Biking is a great way to get outdoors, whether on a bike road trip or cycling in the mountains. Learn more about cycling in the Cycling Channel. Whether you're working or playing for hours on your computer, having wallpapers that are fun to look at may be one of the best ways to spice up your view of the system. No one likes to look at the blue screen or the Windows logo for hours on end, so let's make things a little more interesting, right? We've been browsing through almost endless versions of beautiful images and animated backgrounds to find you the best wallpapers out there. But we chose not only the beautiful. We searched specifically for images that make for a good background. They're not too cluttered, provide a lot of space and clarity for icons, and in case of smarter ones, give you plenty of options to customize them as you like. Static screens Don't fancy all the fuss and distractions from something animated or interactive? Not a problem. You can still choose from millions of beautiful images, and even if they are not specifically designed for wallpaper, it doesn't mean they won't work as one. Because what we're talking about is essentially just photography, there's an almost infinite number of options on the web. To get you started, however, sites like WallpaperFusion have a bonanza of beautiful wallpaper to choose from, including landscapes, fantasy creatures, cars and cartoon characters. Many are compatible with JigsawMania too. NASA has a collection of the best images ever shot in space - all that black makes for a great contrast to your desktop shortcuts - including some of the latest Cassini shots before he died. BUILD BEACH BONFIRE Instead of parking it around the TV this Saturday night with your buddies, bring the boys to the beach and settle around the campfire. Invite the ladies to warm up the night. We teach you tricks to get the flame lit quickly, what materials to use (driftwood and beer boxes), and how to keep it contained. This is the cheapest way to bond over the case, plus you can use the ocean for a midnight dip (clothes optional). 5. SOAK UP SOME SANGRIA When the barrel is too fraternity party, and the wine is too formal, reach a jug of sangria for your next batch. The only time you have to mix wine with liquor, and still be able to open the shades the morning after. To make your own, choose seasonal fresh fruits like watermelon, peaches cherries, and complement the fruit with the fruity aroma of cognac, cognac, Melissa Wentzell, general manager of Amada restaurant in Philadelphia, is known for her powerful pitchers. The key is to soak the fruit as long as possible, up to two days. The longer it absorbs, the tastier, and the more drunk it gets, says Wentzell. You need: 2 cups seasonal fresh fruit (watermelon, cherry, peaches) 1,750 ml bottle of red wine (burgundy) or white wine (light-bodied German wine) 1/2 cup fruit flavored cognac 1/2 cup orange liqueur (Grand Marnier, Cointreau) Sugar Club Soda Mint Chop up the fruit and put it in a bowl. Lightly sprinkle the fruit with sugar and pour on it brandy and orange liqueur. Allow it to soak in a bowl for at least 2 hours, up to 2-3 days. The longer the better. When it is ready, add the fruit to a large jug filled with ice. Pour the wine on the fruit and add spritz club soda to give it a little sizzle. Add a sprig of mint to each glass.
